Subject: "Textural Features Analyzer" Software developed by Mr. Zbigniew Jerzak and Mr.
Adam Kotliński-/-

Within the frameworks of the co-operation between the aforementioned students of the Silesian University of Technology and the Laboratory for Computer Image Analysis and Confocal Microscopy in the Oncology Institute, software enabling the calculation of texture parameters according to the definition by prof. Haralick was developed.-/-

The scope of the works performed by the students comprised: participation in the phase of specification of user's requirements, development of calculation algorithm upon the basis of definitions and formulas provided, development of the software code in the Borland Delphi 6.0 language.-/-

The software presented meets all requirements indicated by us in the fullest way (and as far as its functionality is concerned, it even exceeds them, thus proving its authors' creativity. -/-

Upon the basis of the software referred to herein we intend to conduct a series of research focusing upon the texture parameters of the cancer cells nuclei in standard and fluorescent colorations with the use of confocal microscope and possibly to create a proper sorter.-/-

Summing up, we are pleased with the form and results of our co-operation, and the software developed will surely be used by us in our further scientific activities.-/-
